

HILLTOWN BOARD SELECTS SITE FOR SCHOOL BUILDING

To Be Located On Harvey Farm, East of Silverdale

ISSUE CALL FOR BIDS

Proposals From Contractors Will Be Received May 18th

Hilltown Board of Education will erect the proposed consolidated high school building for the township on the Harvey farm, facing Souderton pike, a short distance east of Silverdale.

The board's action became known when a call for bids was issued.

Proposals from contractors will be received by the board in session at Blooming Glen on Monday, May 18. At the same time directors will receive bids for the sale of a $110,000 bond issue to finance the erection of the building. The bonds will bear interest at 4 1/2 per cent.

Bids will also be received for the drilling of an artesian well and a septic tank sewage disposal system. The building is to be completed and ready for occupancy by March 1, 1932.

Definite action by the directors, four of whom face criminal charges of malfeasance in office brought by John Reese, a township taxpayer, practically eliminates any hopes of the Hilltown Township Taxpayers' Association that the board would grant a further concession and erect the building in a "central" location as demanded by the association's "war board."

Association leaders and school directors met in conference on April 4th when directors offered a peace move by expressing a willingness to abandon the Moyer-Yoder tract at Blooming Glen and erect the proposed building on the Harvey farm.

Spokesmen for the taxpayers' body objected, stating that the Harvey tract was open to the same objection as the Moyer-Yoder site is not being "centrally located." They countered by offering a property owned by Warren Hendricks, fronting on the Silverdale-Mount Pleasant road, known as State Route 152. School directors were not favorably impressed and said so.

Since then there has been little activity on either side, except for the board's action in having the Harvey farm surveyed and the architect's preliminary work in asking for bids.

PLEAD GUILTY CASES BEFORE COUNTY COURT

Four Youths Admit Felonious Entry, Larceny and Taking Stolen Goods

OTHER COURT CASES

Langhorne Man Charged With Driving Car While Drunk

DOYLESTOWN, May 5.—Four youths appeared before President Judge Hiram H. Keller for sentence yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods. Two of them could have received a maximum sentence of 110 years in the penitentiary for robbing eleven stores, post-offices, garages and roadside stands.

They were: Erdman Doan, twenty-three, of 51 York Road, Hathboro, a former resident of Buckingham Valley; Robert Magennis, sixteen, of Hathboro, formerly of Buckingham Valley raised as an aid society ward; James Hayes, sixteen, of Staunton, Va.; and John Trymbiski, eighteen, of Doylestown.

State Police of the Doylestown sub-station, arrested Doan and Magennis in a rooming house in Hathboro, where they lived together and secreted the loot they stole, which included radios, candy, cigarettes, musical instruments, eatables of all kinds, jewelry and many other articles valued at $1,000.

Doan and Magennis confessed to robbing eleven places. Hayes knew Doan and Magennis but one day and went with them on one "job" but simply sat in the automobile while the other two boys robbed the place. Trymbiski was induced to go with Magennis and Doan on one "job" but did not take an active part in the robbery.

Judge Keller sentenced Doan on one bill to serve not less than 18 months or more than three years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and suspended sentence on ten others. Magennis was sentenced to the Huntingdon Reformatory. Trymbiski and Hayes were placed on probation for three years with a suspended prison sentence. Hayes was ordered to return to his home in Staunton, Va., at once, while Trymbiski was turned over to the custody of a Doylestown woman who promised to give him a home.

"It is a very unpleasant duty for me to sentence a group of young men like you," Judge Keller said to the defendants as the four faced him at the Bar of the court. "There is entirely too much thrill seeking among the young people of today. We must protect the public. Courts are criticized and we have received letters asking us why more severe sentences are not imposed. On the other hand, in this case, we have letters asking us to be lenient. I see no mitigating circumstances whatsoever in this case. I could send Magennis and Doan to the penitentiary for 110 years. Think that over! As for Hayes and Trymbiski, you were both victims of circumstances."

The places robbed were located in Wrightstown, Pineville, Buckingham Valley, Horsham, New Britain and numerous rural sections.

Doan testified that he had known Magennis for ten years, and that he (Doan) owned the roadster in which he and Magennis traveled at night. One radio was stolen from a Buckingham Valley store, and this was pawned for $10 so that Doan could pay one of the notes on his car. He said that he sold some of the stolen candy to his fellow-workers in a Hathboro foundry, where he worked and made from $25 to $35 a week.

"I thought that I would help Magennis on these jobs so that he would not get caught," Doan told the court. "I warned Magennis not to do the jobs at first but then I joined in with him."

MAN: POOR STYLE CRITIC

A wife is her husband's severest critic. But she has nothing on him for severity when it comes to the question of a husband's criticism of his wife's clothes.

A man may be indifferent to what other women wear. His wife may sometimes imagine that he is indifferent even to what she wears, but let her once step beyond the bounds of what he thinks fitting and proper and she will hear from him. Rare is the husband without very fixed notions on this subject.

A wife insists that hubby accompany her to the milliner's or on a dress-buying expedition, knowing full well that not a jot of helpful criticism or advice will she be able to pump out of him during the whole process of picking a hat, dress or coat. They will all look the same to him.

But let her appear in a skirt shorter or more diaphanous than hubby thinks decorous and she will hear from him in no uncertain tones. Or let her pay a little more for a hat or garment than he considers within their means and a superabundance of unhidden advice and criticism will be forthcoming from him.

Some husbands make the mistake of imagining that because their wives cook and mend for them they are also willing to dress for them. Nothing could be farther removed from the truth. When a wife selects her wardrobe she is thinking not of her husband, but of the fashion sheets and of what the women of her acquaintance will like and wear.

And that rare wife who is so devoted to her mate as to let him dictate how she is to dress does not need to acknowledge it. Her clothes prove his dictatorship.

PAYING THE MORTGAGE

Josephus Daniels, Southern Democrat and former secretary of the navy, is to be taken at his word. He recently demanded of his party that it pay off its $600,000 debt to Chairman Raskob and discharge him, that Democracy may win in 1932. Almost immediately the board of strategy, of which Mr. Raskob is a member, started in search of the $600,000, plus a few hundred thousands for next year's campaign expenses.

In simple words the board has told the dry wing of the party to go out and raise the money. This is not an easy task in Democratic politics, "angels" of the Raskob generosity coming few and far between in its not too smooth career. The elements which would like to satisfy the Raskob mortgage upon the party have never been large contributors.

Raskob is the only national chairman in history who has been willing to play the role of party "angel," and that form of gratitude which is a "lively sense of favors to come" probably will in the end dictate his retention. Political parties are idealistic until their ideals conflict with practical politics.

It is germane to the subject to observe that when the Democratic leaders lapse from their partisan destructiveness it is merely to become constructive along party lines.

One objection to seeing America first is that newspaper men don't photograph you with your legs crossed when you get back.

The truck moved away from the door. The plane, its motor snarling viciously, lumbered out of the building, bumping and swaying as it trundled across the uneven ground. Its tail rose as it gathered speed and scurried along, just tapping the earth with its fat tires. It was no longer a misshapen, awkward thing; it was a throbbing, restless bird, eager to kick the ground away from its feet. And then it was off. In a hurricane of sound it leaped into the air, soaring across the tops of the orange trees and disappeared, leaving only a sweeping wind and the smell of burned gasoline to mark its passing.

The men in the hangar walked out into the night and stood for a few minutes, gazing into the northern sky. The lights in the

They watched the little group of workmen stroll slowly across the field and disappear into the darkness of the groves on the north side. Then the three boys turned in the opposite direction and made their way silently around the southern edge of the clearing. They had covered two-thirds of the roundabout way to the hangar when Dave, who was leading, suddenly stopped short, dived headlong into the shadow beneath the nearest tree and wriggled convulsively behind the slender trunk. The others promptly plunged in after him.

From the direction of the hangar came a dark figure walking along the edge of the field close by the outer line of orange trees. The moonlight glittered coldly upon the sloping barrel of a gun

Dave drew a long breath and looked at his companions. They were still staring across the clearing. Talbot rolled over, puffing, and pushed his stout form to a sitting position.

"Well, well, well," he chuckled delightedly. "Who'd ever have thought that we'd stumble upon a busy little airport like this? Travel is so instructive! I have a good mind to stroll over there to the office and buy me a ticket for somewhere."

Curiosity Plus

"Make it a one-way ticket," suggested Gerry, helpfully.

"Pipe down, Talbot," whispered Dave. "You'll talk yourself into a pine box one of these days."

"From where I sit," murmured Talbot, unabashed, "it seems as though we might have a busy evening before us. I'd turn and twist on my bed all night if I didn't know what was in those packages they were loading aboard that plane. One of my besetting sins is an overdeveloped curiosity and I—"

"I'm going to gag him," announced Gerry, purposefully.

Talbot moved hastily away. "Look!" whispered Dave. "Those mechanics are leaving the field. They're probably going over to Mueller's house. Let's ease around

Only 6 More Days

! Hustle, Work, Win !

Time is flying fast--Only six days remain for big votes--Hustle is the keynote right now. The winners in the Courier's election may be determined within these last few days of the all-important first period.

Last Chance For Big Votes

Never again during the election will it be possible to secure so many votes on subscriptions as between now and Monday night, May 11th. To hold back subscriptions now or to depend on "promises" to subscribe at a later date simply means that you will have to take less votes on such subscriptions. We are putting it up to you fairly and squarely—if you would be declared the winner of one of the TEN Big Bags of Gold, you cannot possibly afford to let this BIG VOTE PERIOD pass without "casting your hat in the ring" with "sticktoitiveness" that accomplishes the success of every effort worth while. You can win one of the big bags of gold.

! Monday May 11th !

Don't Stand Idle While Opportunity Is Knocking

In The Courier's "Everybody Wins Something" $10,000 Gold Prize distribution opportunity is knocking at the door of many homes in Bristol and this entire section. It is knocking at YOUR door. Are you going to let it pass by or are you going to take full advantage of it by getting your campaign going on high right now? You now have the chance, a good chance, of securing your share of a valuable list of presents in the greatest and one of the shortest elections ever held in this section of Pennsylvania. All the big prizes, purses of gold and silver, are offered under the most liberal agreements. It is not hard to win them. In fact, the way this election is headed now, it is hard not to win them. Just study over this a minute. With such a fair and liberal distribution of prizes why hesitate about really getting in to win? The prizes, every one of them, are certainly worthy of your best efforts.

Arrange Auto Tour Of Apple District

The Bucks County Fruit Growers' Association planned it all yesterday, and the Keystone Automobile Association will hustle to get out maps and route cards to enable strangers to reach the blossoming apple orchards in many sections on a motor ride thru some of Bucks county's most beautiful sections.

"Bucks county has between 25,000 and 30,000 apple trees which will be in bloom about that time," said County Farm Agent Greenawalt this morning.

"The route for Philadelphians to take will start them off at Neshaminy. From there they will go to the York Road, to Furlong, across to Wycombe, to Hollings, to Solebury from Lahaska, to the River Road, up the River Road through the Artist Colony, and on up to Kintnersville over a drive which is glorious at any time of the year. Then they will turn in at Durham Furnace and go to Springtown and Pleasant Valley, Coopersburg, Quakertown, to the Ridge Road at Perkaskie, down the concrete road to South Perkaskie and Silverdale and then to the Bethlehem Pike and back to Philadelphia.

This route will not take in all of the apple orchards, but it will take the motorists to most of the large ones.

Warrington Man Is Placed Under Arrest

of $1500. Grier was represented by an Easton attorney.

According to the information sworn to by Investigator Brennan, Grier, before living in Warrington, conducted the Monarch Fur Farms at Ancora, N. J., and sold stock in Pennsylvania at the time.

The information avers that on August 26, 1929, Grier, as president of the Monarch Fur Farms, sold John O. Cook, of Philadelphia, fifty shares of stock for $2,000.

It is also charged that Grier sold John R. Hollingsworth, of Philadelphia, ten shares of stock for $350 on June 24, 1929, and 25 shares to Karl Fueller, of Glenstone, on Sept. 19, 1929, for $100 a share.

The deponent avers that the Monarch Fur Farms and Grier were never registered as a dealer, agent or salesman in accordance with the provisions of the Pennsylvania Securities Act.

Grier, who has been conducting the Braemore Fur Farms at Warrington recently, was arraigned before Justice Hobensack on two charges. One was brought by George Blehn, Jr., of 7112 Lincoln Drive, Philadelphia, a former employe of Grier, who testified that Grier gave him a check for $50 that was no good.

Justice Hobensack discharged Grier on the "rubber check" charge when it was shown that when the check was issued to Blehn there was more than sufficient money in bank to pay the check. The check, however, did not arrive in Grier's bank until three days later and there were no funds there on that particular day. The costs were placed on the county.

On the charge of false pretense, John W. Gehris, of Chalfont, testified that he and Grier made a deal on January 16, Gehris said that he sold Grier thirty meat rabbits in exchange for which he was to get six breeding rabbits from Grier, the meat rabbits to be part payment and $25 was to be paid upon delivery of the breeding rabbits to Gehris and the balance in six months. Gehris said that the meat rabbits from his place was delivered to Grier the same day but that he has received no breeding rabbits and is out the meat rabbits.

Grier's lawyer asked Justice Hobensack to discharge his client on the

Helpful Advice to Girls

By NANCY LEE

DEAR NANCY LEE:

I want to congratulate you on the excellent advice you have given to girls, and confront you with my problem. I am a girl 15, in love with a boy 19. He says he is too old, but I don't think so. This boy knows that I am crazy about him for I have told him so. When we are alone together he is always attentive and considerate.

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: No doubt the boy realizes that you are too young for any serious attachment and so really looks upon you as a friend. It isn't that he is too old, it is just that you are too young. Can't you enjoy a little friendship without becoming stupidly sentimental about it? Keep up the friendship and keep it on the real friendship basis.

DEAR NANCY LEE:

I am in love with a young man who seems to think a lot of me yet he goes with another girl. I think much of him and he means a lot to me. How can I win his love? Should I write him a letter and tell him of my love, or what?

LONELY BLUE EYES.

LONELY BLUE EYES: No, you should write yourself a letter telling yourself to wake up. The man no doubt treats you as a friend and you must on wearing a sentimental web about him. Surely there are other ways than that of writing a letter to let a man know that he is dear to you. Such a letter would no doubt be most amusing to him and he may even show it to some of the other girls in whom he is interested. These things do happen.

grounds there was no false pretense shown since the deal was for future delivery and no particular time was set. The costs were placed on the county and Grier was discharged. He was arrested by the State Securities investigator as he was leaving Justice Hobensack's office.

Why Commute?

Why travel back and forth to your employment, which is here in Bristol, when such desirable dwellings are to be obtained here at such reasonable rents? It will pay any individual to investigate!

Work Where You Live and Live Where You Work.

If you are employed in Bristol you should live here. It will be less expensive and there are numerous other advantages derived from making your home in the town where you are employed.

You will save many hours a year which are now spent in traveling and you will have more time with your family.

The saving in money will also be considerable. Add to that which you are now paying for rent the amount which you spend in traveling back and forth to your employment here. You'll be surprised at the total. Rent a house here at a moderate rental and bank the difference.

Houses.

Comfortable dwellings, well situated and at moderate rents are to be found in that portion of Bristol which is immediately adjacent to the P. R. R. passenger station.

These houses make ideal homes and consist of six rooms with bath.

Conveniences.

They are heated by hot-air furnaces with a direct pipe leading to every room. They are lighted with electricity and are equipped with sewer, municipal water and gas.

Each room is well lighted and yet the space devoted to windows is not excessive.

Front porches are another attractive feature as is also a small rear yard where children can play in safety away from the perils of traffic.

Houses such as these would rent for considerably more in any city, where the conveniences would not surpass those offered here.

"NOW WE ARE THREE!"

KATHERINE and Bill—what fun it is to know them! They seem to get so much out of living. You met them just a little over a year ago—the week before they were married. Ten days later it gave you a pleasant glow of anticipation to receive the trim card telling you when they'd be "at home."

And today you got another card, headed "Now we are three!" Bill's signature comes first, then Katherine's, and then—the guided, chubby scrawl of the newcomer, Jeremy.

You happen to know that although he is in line for an important promotion, Bill's present salary isn't large. Most other young couples would consider themselves "up against it" if they had to manage on so little. Yet Katharine and Bill maintain a standard of living that is the admiration of all their friends.

You know how they do it, for Katherine has told you. They budget all expenditures. And when they decide a purchase is to be made, whether it is a new shade for the reading lamp, or a suit for Bill, or shoes for Katherine, they study the advertisements until they find just what they want for the price they can pay. Careful, budgeted buying of consistently advertised merchandise enables them to get the most out of their dollars.

It's a wise baby that picks parents like these.

Six Slightly Injured In Two Auto Accidents

When their automobile skidded on the wet highway at Tullytown, Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Keiner, of 2426 South 13th street, Philadelphia, were slightly injured.

The car struck a pole, and was considerably damaged.

Mr. Keiner sustained a small, contused laceration over the right eye, which required one stitch; and contused laceration of the right side of nose, needing two stitches; also abrasions of the right knee. His wife gained abrasions and a contused wound of the right knee. After a few hours spent at the Harriman Hospital, they were released.

Four persons were injured late Sunday night when two automobiles collided on Bellevue avenue, Langhorne. W. J. Reiner, 28 years old, of 226 East Albano street, Philadelphia, suffered concussion of the brain and bruises. C. R. Harman, 35 years old, of South Langhorne, received lacerations of the face and scalp wounds. Reiner's wife, Dorothy, 24 years old, was cut about the face.

Lloyd M. Barnes, 26 years old, of Los Angeles, a driver for Billy Arnold, noted automobile racer, received a fractured leg. Barnes was driving along Bellevue avenue, while Reiner was coming out of Central avenue when the crash occurred. Both cars were badly damaged. Reiner was taken into the home of his father-in-law, George Stachle, who lives near the scene of the accident, while the others were removed to other homes. All were treated by Dr. S. L. Ridge, of Langhorne.

SCRANTON MINERS EXPECT TO HAVE A GOOD SEASON

By Gene Myers

I. N. S. Sports Writer

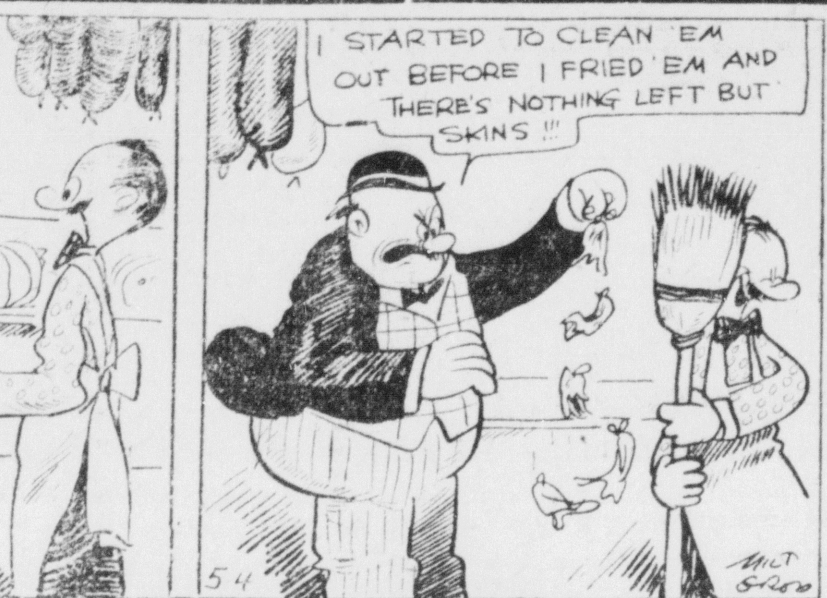

HARRISBURG, May 5.—(INS)—Convinced that the '31 edition of the Scranton Miners is destined for a better season than last year's aggregation, which finished on the bottom rung of the NYP ladder, Manager Buck Elliot will place a rejuvenated club in the field against Wilkes-Barre tomorrow.

Elliot will cover the initial sack this season instead of second, where he has galloped about for the past several seasons. In his old place at second, it is indicated, will be Johnny Henzes, of Erie. Johnny Wright, former infielder with Reading, seems likely to draw the shortstop assignment and the hot corner is apparently all sewed up for Heinie Batch, one of the best infielders in the circuit.

Cy Morgan, formerly with Williamsport in the NYP, Brick Mason and Pat Shea, the latter pair both held over from last season, will tend the Miners' outer garden. Also making a strong bid for a place in the outfield is Ted Norbert, "home run king" of the disbanded Blue Ridge League last season. Cy Dixon, former York backstop, is expected to win the regular catching position with Ernie Vick, a last season holdover, giving him an occasional day off.

Scranton's mound staff, in the opinion of Elliot and his followers, will be the equal of any in the circuit. On it will be Joe Samuels, former Detroit hurler, Ken Haines and Andy Ferner. Other pitchers include Joe Zubis, formerly with the International League, John Thomas, from Alabama, Fred Ellrod, Morris Wilson, star flinger of the old Central league, Ernie Schoof, Carl Pritchard and Ted Bolger, the latter with Hazelton last season.

Mrs. M. D. Weagley, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lefferts, of Mulberry street, and Roy Fry, of Jefferson avenue, attended the second annual concert of the Fortnightly Club at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Saturday evening.

Bridge Notes

Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts were a busy bunch directing traffic and counting machines passing over the bridge. After the parade, motorists of both Bristol and Burlington visited each town and drove through the principal streets.

The Rohm & Haas buildings presented a very attractive appearance on Saturday in new paint and decorations.

Traffic was exceptionally well handled by the police and not even a fender was dented.

Lawrence McCoy Hurt When He Falls From Truck

A 12-year-old boy who slipped and fell while endeavoring to board a motor-truck here early last evening, the wheels of the machine passing over his body, was but slightly hurt.

The lad, Lawrence McCoy, son of Mrs. Pearl McCoy, Otter street, is in the Harriman Hospital, where it is stated he is being treated for bruises. No bones were broken.

The accident occurred at the residence of the boy's grandfather, Jacob Schmidt, early last evening. Lawrence was endeavoring to reach the Schmidt truck which was just leaving the premises at the time.

To Start Work On Shorter Route From Here to Easton

HARRISBURG, May 5.—(INS)—Construction will begin tomorrow, State Department officials here announced, on 8.46 miles of macadam road between Buckingham and Pipersville on Route 413 to provide a more direct route from Bristol to Easton. The new stretch will reduce the mileage between the two cities by bypassing Doylestown and will relieve traffic on the Lackawanna Trail from Philadelphia to north and northeast state points. The route will cut about 4 miles, highway engineers estimate.

Completion of the cut-off is expected by September 1st.

Will Pay Interest In Full On Compensation Claims

HARRISBURG, May 5.—(INS)—Interest on compensation claims appealed to the State Workmen's Compensation Board and decided in favor of the claimant will, in future, be paid in full Arthur C. Dale, chairman of the board, announced here today.

The policy of the board is in accord with a provision of the act which provides for such payments except to non-resident alien dependents.

Although the provision of the act is mandatory, members of the board said today that in the past it has "been treated virtually as a scrap of paper."

"It is incredible that this mandate of the legislature should have been allowed to go by default," Chairman Dale said in connection with his announcement. "While little attention has been paid to this provision of the law, there has been very careful observance of the provision which requires that where the employer commutes compensation in a lump sum he shall be allowed a discount of five percent, compounded annually."

Referees of the board have been directed, Dale said, to incorporate in their orders in future a provision that interest shall be paid on accumulated sums in conformity with the provisions of the compensation act.

Past failures to observe the provision was called to the attention of the present board by representatives and counsel of the United Mine Workers at a recent session at Pottsville.

Held In Jail For Setting Fire To His Brother

Joseph Taylor, Maple Shade, was given a hearing in Municipal Police Court, this morning, before Justice of Peace James Guy, on the charge of assault and battery.

Taylor admitted pouring oil on his brother, George, Sunday afternoon, and then setting fire to his clothing.

The defendant told Justice Guy that his brother owed him money.

He was held in $1,000 bail until such time as his mental condition can be examined.

George was burned about the limbs and was treated at the Harriman Hospital, where he was taken by the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department.

Woman Given Hearing On Assault and Battery Charge

Mrs. Catherine Papatto, Wood and Lafayette streets, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace James Guy last night in the Municipal police court.

Mrs. Papatto was charged with assault and battery upon Mrs. Rose Embiscuso.

It was alleged that Mrs. Papatto choked Mrs. Embiscuso on the street Sunday morning.

Costs in the case were imposed upon the defendant.

Plead Guilty Case Before County Court

Magennis, who said that he was raised by the Home Missionary Society, Philadelphia, lived in a number of foster homes and finally located in Hatboro, moving there from Buckingham Valley. He and Doan rented a room in Hatboro. Magennis said that he did not recall Doan trying to persuade him not to commit the robberies.

Magennis said that he and Doan drove to Doylestown one night and picked up Trymbiski. That night they robbed a roadside stand, but Trymbiski, Magennis said, was simply the "look out" for the job. On another occasion Doan and Magennis took Hayes with them and robbed a stand at Poole's Corner, but Hayes remained in the automobile, and got but two packs of cigarettes out of the robbery.

Trymbiski testified that when he was working he made from $35 to $40 a week with a tree surgery firm but that he has been out of work recently.

When a Doylestown woman appeared on the witness stand in his behalf and promised to assist him in getting work and giving him a home, Judge Keller placed him on probation for three years.

Hayes informed the Court that he served four months in Virginia for stealing two dogs, but promised to get home quickly when the Court placed him on probation for three years.

Marjorie J. Brooks, agent for the Home Missionary Society of Philadelphia, testified that only once did they have any complaint about Magennis and that was when he ran away and was found in Baltimore. She suggested that the Court send him to Glen Mills Reformatory School, but the Court informed her that the disposition of this case was not for the society she represented. The Court sent Magennis to Huntingdon Reformatory.

Robert E. Sargent, of Phillipsburg, N. J., who served prison terms in Northampton county prison for forgery and in Trenton for larceny, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of uttering several worthless checks in Morrisville. He was sentenced to two years in the Bucks County prison. Judge Calvin S. Boyer pronounced sentence.

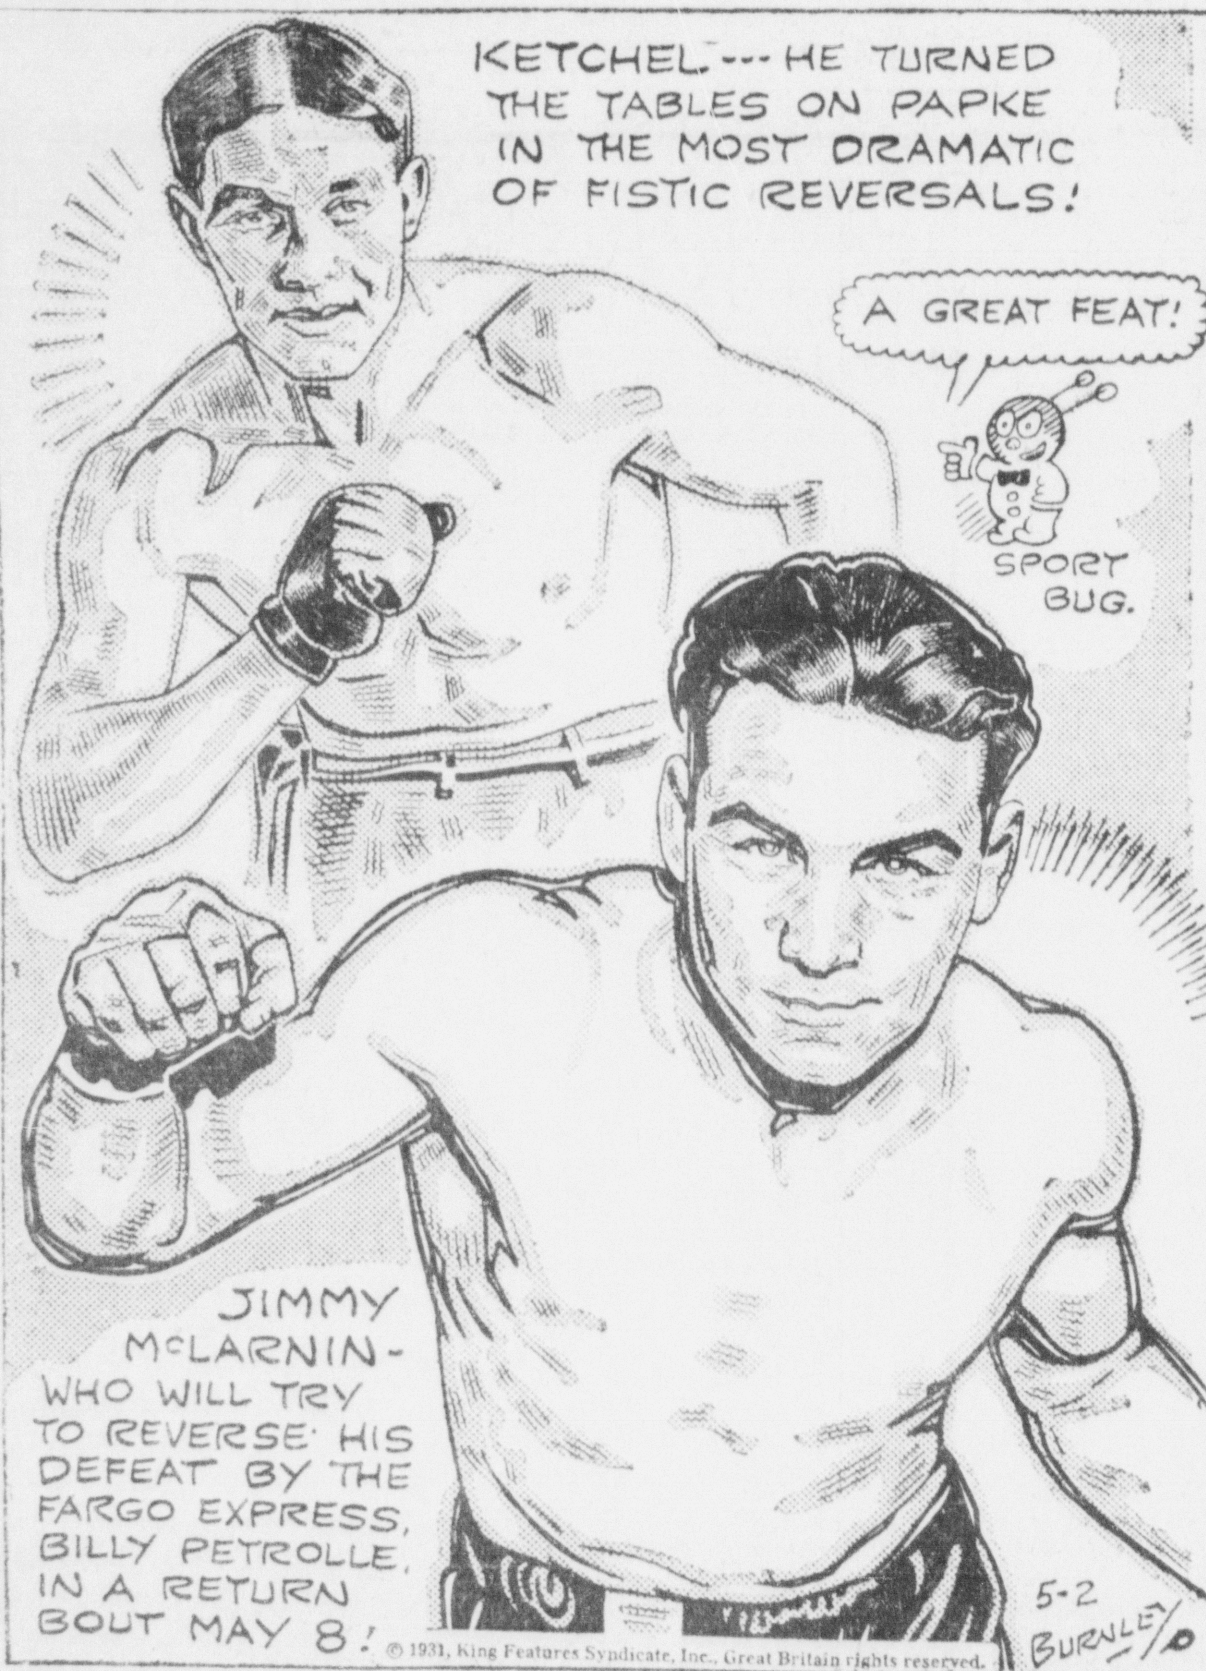

"The only thing to do in a case like this is to protect the public; you do not know what it is to learn a lesson," Judge Boyer told Sargent, who cashed checks that were forged by another man in Trenton over a year ago.

Howard Comly, of Langhorne, a mechanic, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating his automobile while drunk. Judge Boyer sentenced him to pay a fine of $200 and costs. He told the Court that he drove a Langhorne resident to Bristol to a dentist's office and that after the patient had been discharged he took him to a friend's house where they imbibed in several drinks. Comly told the court that he could not stand much liquor and promised to "stop drinking liquor."

John Kennedy, 20, and Francis Daley, 19, of Philadelphia, pleaded guilty before Judge Boyer to a charge of forcibly entering a bungalow at Neshaminy Falls on April 14, where they staged a party. The bungalow belonged to John Siegler, of Philadelphia. Both were placed on probation for a year and directed to pay the costs in 30 days. A prison sentence of one year was suspended.

Acid Test for Jimmy

By HARDIN BURNLEY

KETCHEL---HE TURNED THE TABLES ON PAPKE IN THE MOST DRAMATIC OF FISTIC REVERSALS!

A GREAT FEAT!

SPORT BUG.

JIMMY McLARNIN—WHO WILL TRY TO REVERSE HIS DEFEAT BY THE FARGO EXPRESS, BILLY PETROLLE, IN A RETURN BOUT MAY 8!

WHEN Jimmy McLarnin engages Billy Petrolle in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden next Friday night, friends of "Baby Face" hope he will feel like the immortal Stanley Ketchel did when he squared off with the famous Billy Papke in their second battle. Old-timers may say it's quite far-fetched to invoke the heroic shade of Ketchel in connection with "such glorified club fighters as McLarnin and Petrolle."

Nevertheless there is a parallel so far as the fistic fates were, and are, concerned. And here it is. Petrolle gave McLarnin a severe beating during most of their 10-round sockfest in New York City last Nov. 21. It was a genuine upset, for Jimmy was a 4-to-1 favorite to win. Some even quoted such odds that "Baby Face" would stop the veteran. Instead, Petrolle came close to rocking McLarnin to sleep. Only Jimmy's courage prevented that.

Back in 1908, Papke caught Ketchel with a terrific punch before Stan was warmed up and Billy administered fearful punishment, finally stopping the champion in the 12th round. That was on Sept. 7. Less than three months later, Ketchel retrieved the middleweight crown by kayoing Papke in the 11th round of another slashing bout. Grisly and deeply disappointing memories of Papke's punishing prowess did not daunt the non-hearted Ketchel. He was of the rawhide type—insensible to pain, it seemed, and he never showed (or perhaps had) the faintest trace of fear.

Now if McLarnin is of the Ketchel mould, he may do to Petrolle what Stan did to Papke. He must banish dire thoughts of the battering that Billy dealt out to him a little more than five months ago. Jimmy demonstrated his remarkable courage last time. Next Friday, he will have to prove his class or be relegated definitely out of championship consideration.

To conclude this ring parallel, it should be noted that Papke was a great battler himself and just the type to bring out Ketchel's greatness. Petrolle also is just the chap to submit McLarnin to the "acid bath" that shows the real worth of fistic talent. The bout should be a wow—unless Jimmy takes to the defensive too much.

Bane of All Parties, The "Uninvited Guest"

Where do These "Gate Crashers" and "Introduction Grafters" Come From, Asks Winifred Black, and How Do They Feel About Themselves?

By WINIFRED BLACK

THEY went to a party the other night—the three Uninvited Guests.

Nobody knew them—nobody had ever heard of them before, but they heard of the party so they just dressed up and went.

Any every body thought they were friends of some body else, so everybody said "hello," and "good evening," and "isn't it a peach of a party," and everything would have been all right, only one of the Uninvited Guests paid a little too much attention to one of the pretty girls. And one of the Invited Guests made it his business to pop said Uninvited Guest.

He said it with his strong right hand, across the face of the person who dared to dance with the Prettiest Girl four times in succession—to tell her she was the most beautiful living being on earth, and to try to get her to go for a ride with him in the perfectly good moonlight.

Whoosh—the party stopped—and the fight began.

Two men were knocked unconscious, one had his jaw fractured, and one young fellow disappeared entirely.

At the last news from the scene of action it was feared that he had been kidnapped.

No wonder those particular Guests were Uninvited.

Who'd want them or anyone like them at any kind of a party?

These "gate crashers" were always hearing about these days.

Who on earth are they, where do they come from, and why don't they have parties of their own once in a while?

Is it possible that they do not realize themselves just what undesirable and unpleasant persons they really are?

Or is it that they just don't care what people think of them, so long as they can go to the party?

I wonder, too, just what one of these Professional Guests would do in the event he was actually given a cordial invitation to attend something or other.

I believe they are related, somehow, to two women I saw at a public luncheon the other day.

A speaker was leaving the luncheon and the two women barred her way.

"Pardon me," said one of the two women. "I suppose it's awfully cheeky of me, but you seem so good-natured—won't you give me a letter to somebody in Honolulu—you must know somebody there, and I don't know a soul."

"Do you know somebody in Holland?" asked the other one of the Two Women. "My husband is going there on business, and I'm going with him. They say the Dutch are awfully nice, if you really know them—but you have to know them. Now I thought if you'd send me a letter, or maybe you could write one for me on the back of this card right now, I have a pen right here."

What Do They Think?

"But," said the woman who spoke at the luncheon, "I don't know you. I don't even know your names."

"Mine's easy," said one of the Women.

"Here," said the Other Woman, "I'll spell mine out for you."

"Don't bother," said the speaker, "I can't write, I don't generally mention it, you know, but I can't."

And before there was time to expostulate, the speaker was gone.

Party crashers—introduction grafters—those're all in the same family, aren't they?

I wonder how they really feel about themselves, when they take time to think about it?
